INTRODUCTION PANEL

The following question asks how often you switch between languages during interactions, regardless of what languages the other person uses.

Switching between languages refers to alternating between two or more languages or dialects during a single interaction, whether spoken or written.

- Rarely: You occasionally switch languages but mostly stick to one language.
- Sometimes: You switch languages in about half of your interactions.
- Often: You frequently switch between languages during most interactions.
- Always: You consistently use more than one language during all interactions.
